

WHAT IS OSTEOPATHIC MEDICINE?

Osteopathic medicine focuses on the whole person.

Osteopathic physicians are fully trained, licensed to prescribe medicine and practice in all medical and surgical specialties and subspecialties.

Learn about preparing, training and practicing in osteopathic medicine from a panel of osteopathic professionals at UW!

Panelists will include

Dr. Lisa Grant

Internal medicine; DO from Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine

Dr. Ed Lalik

Internal medicine; DO from NY College of Osteopathic Medicine

Dr. Joel Miller

Internal medicine; DO from University of Osteopathic Medicine and Health Sciences in Des Moines

Dr. Marty Mozena

Family medicine; DO from Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine

Dr. Christine Nardi

Cardiovascular medicine; Ohio University College of Osteopathic Medicine

Date: Tuesday, March 20th

Time: 6:30 p.m.

Location: 7001A Wisconsin Institute for Medical Research (WIMR)

Sponsored by the Center for Pre-Health Advising

For more information, please contact Dija Selimi: maselimi@prehealth.wisc.edu